

Librarian's Tips for Macroeconomics Research

Designed for SS145 Online

Your Gateway to Great Resources: The Library: <http://globeeducationnetwork.com/library/>

Online Librarian – Elaine Settergren – esettergren@globeuniversity.edu

More contact info is available on the library's website. Please contact me with questions.

E-Books

Use the GU/MSB Book Catalog to find e-books. These are available for all Globe Education Network students, not just GU/MSB.

- Use general/broad words and try different words/phrases
- Search, then narrow to "format > electronic"
- Click the "online information" link to open the e-book

Databases

Find databases under the "resources" tab or in the Social Sciences Research Guide

- EBSCO's Academic Search Premier
- ProQuest
- Encyclopedia Britannica Online
- World Atlas
- Gale's Opposing Viewpoints Resource Center

World Atlas contains maps and statistics from around the globe.

Websites

- CIA World FactBook – FREE e-book!
 - <https://www.cia.gov/library/publications/the-world-factbook/>
- Nation Master
 - <http://www.nationmaster.com/>
- Library of Congress Country Studies
 - <http://lcweb2.loc.gov/frd/cs/cshome.html>
- Statistical Abstract of the United States
 - http://www.census.gov/prod/www/statistical-abstract-1995_2000.html

HINT: When searching google.com or another search engine, use the advanced search to take out all the ".com" results. Here's an example: `sweatshops -site:.com`

Citing your Sources

- Tip: Use APA Citation to ensure that your instructor can check your sources and verify you haven't plagiarized. Plagiarism (academic dishonesty) will result in failure.
- NOTE: Database URLs will not work! Use the "cite" or "save" buttons to create a citation. You can copy and paste that into your references.